

Finance Manager

£50-60k, Central London

Innovative in its approach and currently experiencing continued growth, our client is a well-known, multinational business employing over 4,000 people across Europe. With an annual turnover of more than £500m, the group is publicly traded on the London Stock Exchange and is proud to be one of Europe's leading consumer product organisations.

An outstanding opportunity has now arisen for a talented, ambitious team player with the tenacity and resilience to help develop the organisation's commercial experience and technical acumen. This is a challenging opportunity where the right individual will be able to define and develop their role while operating as a business partner alongside the senior management team.

A qualified accountant with 2+ years' PQE gained in a commercial environment, you will be looking to lead and to develop your managerial skills. Confident and assured, you will also have the presence to work with and influence senior management while developing strong relationships with other areas of the business. You will be regarded as a technical expert with strong analytical skills to drive company wide projects, have exposure to IFRS, and will be required to develop the function and deliver to deadlines.

If you thrive on change and have the skill-set, motivation and aptitude for this role please respond in confidence to the details below.
